

Feed & Energize our world.

The Department of Agronomy and Horticulture at the University of Nebraska–Lincoln hereby confers a Certificate of Plant Breeding and Genetics upon:

Learners who have earned the certificate in plant breeding have demonstrated a competency in the science that is the foundation of Plant Breeding and Genetics and the technical application of this science to design, breed and improve plants for food, fiber, fuel and fun.

The bearer of this professional certificate has completed 12 professional hours in plant breeding and genetic applications:

UNIVERSITY OF Nebraska
Lincoln

May 10, 2018

Date Granted

Dr. Richard Ferguson

Interim Department Head